Comment (optional):

The two bases for BP's appeal of the BEL award to a real estate agent are replicative of those in numerous prior appeals by BP of real estate broker/real estate agent awards: the CA erred (1) in not reallocating Claimant's cash basis recorded revenue across the prior months when "it is almost certain" the "earning activities occurred," and (2) in applying the Annual Variable Margin Methodology to such a claim submitted with P&Ls that are deemed ultimately not to be sufficiently matched, rather than the Professional Services Methodology.

Dozens of appeal panel decisions are now extant rejecting both of these contentions, with full analyses and explanations for that result. Those rationales are fully dispositive of this appeal and nothing would be served by a regurgitation of them in this Decision Comment. The appeal is denied.
