

likes it or not, the tests under 495 control. BP cannot look within specific product lines or point to other alleged manifestations of mis-matching. If the financials satisfy the 495 standard, there is adequate matching. BP also complained about the classification of certain bank charges. However, claimant agreed with this contention and adjusted its final proposal accordingly. Therefore, this issue is moot. The award in favor of claimant's final proposal is affirmed.